English for Academic Purposes (EAP)
Post Doc: Job Description

The Center for the Study of Languages and Cultures is pleased to announce two English for Academic Purposes (EAP) post-doctoral fellowships for the 2017-2018 academic year. These competitive positions will be awarded to two current or former Notre Dame graduate students in the College of Arts and Letters who have successfully defended their dissertations by August 1, 2017, or up to three years prior.

The English for Academic Purposes (EAP) Program offers English support and enhancement for international graduate students. The goal of the program is to empower international students to maximize their academic success through coursework, workshops, tutoring, and self-study resources. The EAP post-doctoral scholars are an integral part of the EAP program at Notre Dame. As such, they provide one-on-one tutoring, lead bi-weekly workshops, and teach a one-semester course for international graduate students. This nine-month post-doctoral position runs from early August 2017 until mid-May 2018.

For more information and application instructions, visit the EAP website at: cslc.nd.edu/programs/eap/fellows. The deadline for applications is Friday, March 31, 2017 at 9:00am.

The job description is as follows:

1. Personality and/or Experience Traits
   - Second language learning experience
   - Multi-cultural experience
   - Devotion to assisting international students
   - Exemplary teaching skills (CFIs or other evaluations are required)
   - Comfortable with basic educational technology: Sakai, Google, Microsoft Office, Adobe, etc.
   - Adaptable – willing to learn outside of one’s discipline

2. Pre-Job Training
   - Attend up to eight hours of training in May 2017
   - Sit in on one workshop and one tutoring session in Spring 2017 (if possible)
   - Attend up to eight hours of training between August 14 and August 22, 2017
   - Complete all required readings and assignments via Sakai

3. Teaching Responsibilities
   - Teach a 3-credit EAP course for one semester as the instructor of record. This 15-week course is offered on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 5:05pm to 6:20pm, and the syllabus/materials are provided. Course offerings may include Pronunciation, Academic Presentations, or Academic Writing. Which course will be taught by whom will be decided in the May training sessions.
   - Hold office hours for one hour/week during that semester
   - Provide feedback on students' assignment submissions (about one-two hours/week)
4. Workshop Responsibilities
   - Lead six workshops over the course of the non-teaching semester
   - Prepare presentation materials
   - Collaborate with co-sponsors for events
   - Post materials to the EAP website and Facebook newsfeeds
   - Report attendance for each workshop

5. Tutoring Responsibilities
   - Hold tutoring hours for six hours/week during the teaching semester and ten hours/week during the workshop semester
   - Tutoring must be held by each post doc in the CSLC over two or more days in any given week, such that all weekdays are covered between both post docs
   - Prepare for tutoring sessions, when necessary
   - Report each tutoring session to the EAP program coordinator and co-worker
   - Report each week’s hours to the CSLC administrators

6. Other Responsibilities
   - Attend a weekly one-hour EAP meeting/training session, beginning the first week of classes in August and ending the last week of classes in the spring semester.
   - Promptly answer student emails (within 1 business day of receipt)
   - Assist in promoting and advertising EAP events
   - Share weekly grading responsibilities for the EAP writing course (about 1 hour/week)
   - Assess and interview future EAP candidates (during the spring semester)
   - Assist in various EAP program-related duties as requested by the EAP coordinator
